Brought to you by

That's a wrap on our first ever hybrid London Tech Week! Thank you to our sponsors & partners, speakers and attendees for your support in bringing the tech community together.

After a tumultuous 18 months, we were delighted to welcome over 20,000 attendees, to our Anchor and Fringe Events. Whilst our virtual platforms helped us transcend frontiers to spark meaningful discussions and exchange of ideas, the return of in-person events delivered outstanding opportunities to harvest the power of face-to-face interactions.

Tackling the most pressing topics of today through over 200+ sessions, we boasted an unrivalled line-up of 300+ speakers from across business, government and tech – from CEOs of large corporates, to founders of agile startups, to change-makers within society. The resilience of leaders and organisations within the tech ecosystem has been inspirational across 2020 and 2021, and we've been in awe of the way the tech community has worked together to support society.

Thanks to an untamed innovative spirit and an unshakeable determination to deliver solutions to the world, the tech sector has showcased once again during London Tech Week its outstanding contribution to help the world re-think, re-build and rise.

And as we now turn towards 2022, we welcome you to join us and play your part in driving forward tech innovation, business transformation and societal change.

An extremely worthwhile and insightful experience with some fantastic guest speakers. The platform functioned seamlessly to provide an excellent variety of virtual events to meet the interests of individuals in different aspects of the technology sector. I will definitely attend next year, whether it be virtually or otherwise! Thanks LTW!"
